

Who do I see myself in the future?

In the future, I see myself as a good specialist in the field of marketing, but the most important thing is to be a good and decent person. I will try to put my studies as a marketing analyst into practice. If I fail to realize my current plans, then I will try something else.

INTERACTIVE TECHNOLOGIES IN TEACHING ENGLISH

The importance of teaching a foreign language effectively has grown significantly in the world, especially in developing countries, such as Ukraine. A complex of measures is being taken to intensify English learning in Ukraine. Among them is raising teaching standards at all stages of education, which means improving both teachers proficiency and methods of teaching. Special attention is paid to strengthening the technological aspects of specialist training and implementation-centered approach to the learning process where the student takes an active part in cognitive activity.

The term “interactive learning technology” is usually connected with computer or multimedia learning. It implies interactive dialogue with real partners and direct exchange of messages. It is known that interactive technologies of teaching foreign languages are based on activity-based approach and comprise the use of interactive teaching methods, including non-situational and situational; organic combination in the educational process of various learning tools, innovational and traditional forms of education on the principles of the appropriateness of their implementation.

Interactive technologies can be characterized by the presence of a dialogue and exchange of opinions and arguments for and against the disputable matter. Any lesson based on discussion is effective if the participants have basic knowledge of the issue and if a teacher has planned the main stages and key points in advance. Discussion is one of the most effective activities on various topics during the lesson. Moreover, those students who are not used to interactive activities find it difficult at first to participate in discussions or dialogues, but gradually they learn and start feeling as important in their group as the others.

Summing up, it can be said that mastering the English language is one of the priorities for any specialist as the modern world requires strengthening general cultural foundation of education, skills development to activate personal capacity to deal with social problems.

SAVE OUR PLANET!

For many years we have had an annual open – air festival near local shopping center to protest against the excessive use of plastic bags.

I know from personal experience how useful is this event, because I have been attending this festival for three years. It is getting more and more popular because they reveal the real problems of humanity. Last year, for example, over 4000 people took part in this event. That was awesome. All these people showed possible threats with concrete examples. The organizers of this event received the award personally from the president. It is also clear to me that the festival should continue. It is part of our local cultural tradition. This time at this event people protested against plastic bags. They talked about their harm and even held a parade along the largest street, removing all the garbage. It was wonderful! I think that at present time such events are very useful for people. Every day we litter our planet without thinking about the consequences. Also, this topic should be discussed with children from an early age. It is much easier to teach a child to be clean than a grown up. I think this topic is very relevant in our time. Whichever street you go, whichever city you visit, I am sure that
